PREFACE.

Early in the sixties, circumstances gave me the consciousness, that, our American people were too unconscious and too negligent of their predecessors, from whom have emanated nearly all the social, civil and religious advantages, in which our American citizens outrank the world, standing preeminent in consequent of inherited blessings and blood of an ancestry, the like of which has no historic parallel.

These patriotic emotions stirred within me the purpose to know in fact and deed the "Abrahams, and Isaacs, and Jacobs," constituting my own ancestry, and to render them a suitable memorial and respect not found in the moss-covered marble and granite, which recognize their death, rather than their glorious lives and the inherited blessings transferred to their posterity.

The magnitude of the enterprise of historic consolidation and reuniting in family oneness, the thousands scattered over the continent, during successive generations, surpassed greatly the incipient conception of the work, both in its labor and outlay, but, an ever increasing evidence of its real worth, and the philanthropic spirit engendered by the effort, has given quite satisfactory results.

Hoping and trusting that this exhibit of worthy and ennobled fathers, will inspire in their children, higher and grander purposes, in the accomplishment of true and successful life, gives the writer assurance that the efforts will prove a benefit and blessing to multitudes.

GENEALOGY OF FULLER FAMILIES.

ROBERT FULLER, of Salem, Mass., according to the best evidence at our command, came from Southampton, England, in ship Bevis in the year 1638.

He was progenitor of many Fuller families of New England, and was one of eight early settlers of America by the name of Fuller who are of a large and worthy progeny, wide-spread over the United States and in Canada.

To ascertain the special consanguinity of these eight ancestral Fullers would necessitate a research in the records of England. Dr. Samuel and Edward of the "Mayflower" were brothers, and the ethnological evidences forcibly favor a common origin not very far remote.

The eight ancestral Fullers are:

DR. SAMUEL, and his brother Edward, of the Mayflower, 1620.

JOHN, of Ipswich, Mass., and William, of Hampton, N. H., who came in 1634.

THOMAS, of Dedham, and John, of Newton, Mass., who came in 1635.

ROBERT, of Salem, and Thomas, of Woburn, Mass., who came in 1638.

ROBERT, of Dorchester, afterward of Dedham, Mass., who came in 1640.

William, of Hampton, N. H., left no children, his property was inherited by the children of his brother John, of Ipswich. The numerous descendants of the eight ancestral heads are found, almost universally, to exhibit an intelligence, a high moral tone, a spirit of thrifty independence and enterprise, which has marked them as worthy sons of their pilgrim fathers, whose high toned principles were ever regarded as dearer than life itself.

Ancestral ROBERT FULLER made his early residence in Salem, Mass. He purchased or held rights in land in Rehoboth in 1645, but remained in Salem, as shown by deeds in which he signs himself as "brick-layer of Salem," until about 1668, when a division of land was made in Rehoboth and a settlement established.

In 1676 the Indians attacked Rehoboth and burned the houses of the settlement. Robert Fuller having lost his wife and two sons and home returned to Salem, where he remained until 1696, having in the meantime married his second wife, Widow Margaret Waller, with whom he again settled in Rehoboth in 1696, and where he died May 10, 1706.

ROBERT FULLER was a man of means in money and estate, holding extensive tracts of land in Rehoboth, Attleboro, Seekonk, and on the Pawtucket river; that in Attleboro he held jointly with his oldest son, Jonathan. He was one of the first proprietors in Rehoboth and drew shares in the general divisions of land in 1661 and 1668. He is found on the list of owners as early as 1645 at a value of £150—paid a tax of £4 10s. 3d. for the expense of King Phillip's war in 1676. He was the first and only bricklayer in New England for many years.

His family record, as nearly as can be obtained, is as follows:

1. ROBERT FULLER, born in England; came to America in ship Bevis, 1638; lived in Salem and Rehoboth, Mass.; m. Sarah, she died Oct. 14, 1676; m. Margaret Waller, she died Jan. 30, 1700.

His children were:

- 2. JONATHAN, b. about 1640; m. Elizabeth Wilmarth, Dec. 14, 1664.
- 3. ELIZABETH, b. about 1645; m. { Nehemiah Sabin, Aug. 4, 1672.
Eleazer Wheelock, April 17, 1678.
- 4. JOHN, b. about 1647; m. Abigail Titus, April 25, 1673.
- 5. SAMUEL, b. about 1649; m. Mary Ide, Dec. 12, 1673.
- 6. ABIGAIL, b. about 1653; m. Thomas Cushman, Oct. 16, 1679.
- 7. BENJAMIN, b. about 1657; m. Mary, 1685, m. Judith Smith, Jan. 23, 1698.

JONATHAN lived and died in Attleboro. Three of his sons settled in the towns of Windham, Coventry and Ashford, Conn.

JOHN and SAMUEL, who died in King Phillip's war, 1676, left each a son, who were brought up and provided for by their grandfather, Robert.

BENJAMIN lived in Salem, afterwards in Rehoboth, where he died Jan. 11, 1711. He had six sons, five of whom settled in Lebanon, Conn., three of whom died there, and two removed to western towns in Conn.

ELIZABETH's first husband, Nehemiah Sabin, was slain by the Indians, 1676, leaving children Elizabeth and David. She had several children by her second husband, Eleazer Wheelock, of Medfield, Mass. Their grandson Rev. Eleazer Wheelock, D. D., was the founder and first President of Dartmouth College, Hanover, N. H. Dr. Wheelock was a man whose life work was unusually filled with original tact and philanthropy.

ABIGAIL, m. Thomas Cushman, (son of Rev. Thomas and Mary (Allerton), she came in the Mayflower with her father, Isaac. Rev. Thomas Cushman, when a boy of fourteen, came with his father Robert, in the ship Fortune, 1621.)

His children were—Job, Bartholomew, Samuel, Benjamin.

ROBERT FULLER's descendants in the fourth generation numbered nearly 150 persons residing in the states of Massachusetts, Connecticut, Rhode Island and New York; and were it possible to enumerate the eighth generation from this single parent stock, it would seem almost beyond belief, yet it would give a realizing sense of the possibilities of the minute events of our lives.

—2. JONATHAN FULLER, (2) oldest son of ancestral Robert (1) and Sarah, born in Salem, Mass., about 1640.

He lived in Attleboro, Mass., where he held land jointly with his father Robert, (1) drawing his shares in the general divisions of land made to the first settlers in 1661 and 1668.

In the Indian war of 1675-76, Attleboro seems to have escaped the ravages and destruction that Rehoboth and other places suffered, so that Jonathan and family remained in their home, while other living members of Robert's family removed to Salem.

Jonathan was selectman of Attleboro, and in his public and private life he bears the repute of being a leading influential citizen, his large family of children all give evidence of inheriting the staid and high toned characteristics of their parents.

JONATHAN FULLER died Feb. 10, 1709, aged 69, leaving a large estate intestate, settled by his widow Elizabeth, March, 1709. He had previously made quite extensive dispositions by deeds to his children.

4. JOHN FULLER (2) second son of ancestral Robert and Sarah, born in Salem, Mass., about 1647.

He came with his father Robert, in 1668, to the new settlement in Rehoboth, and was one of its defenders in the Indian war of 1676, losing his life Aug. 23, 1676; leaving a son nearly two years old named John, also Abiel (posthumous).

JOHN'S (3) second wife, widow Sarah Follett, was daughter of Jonathan Fuller (2) and had a portion from his estate.

5. SAMUEL FULLER, (2) third son of ancestral Robert and Sarah, born in Salem, Mass., about 1649.

He was captain, and lost his life as did his brother John and brother-in-law Nehemiah Sabin in King Phillip's war, August 15, 1676.

He left one son Samuel, (an infant) who with his cousins John and Abiel were cared for by their grandfather Robert. The farm that Robert afterward gave to his grandson Samuel remained in the family one hundred and sixty years.

His children were:

23. SAMUEL, (3) b. Nov. 25, 1675; m. Dorothy Wilmarth, Dec. 16, 1701.

An obituary notice of Mrs. Lucy Fuller Armington of the sixth generation of this line, gives in brief a picture of general application:

"The Fuller families from which Mrs. Armington has descended, were of strong Puritanical character; marked for integrity, industry, a strict regard for truth and justice, accompanied by an affability of manners both pleasing and of controlling influence."

The foregoing introduction of ROBERT FULLER of Salem, Mass., and his family, is a prelude to the Genealogical History of his numerous descendents, designed to be followed out in four distinct LINES from each of his sons, viz:—

THE ROBERT, (1) JONATHAN, (2) LINE.

THE ROBERT, (1) JOHN (2) LINE.

THE ROBERT, (1) SAMUEL (2) LINE.

THE ROBERT, (1) BENJAMIN (2) LINE.

The ROBERT (1) BENJAMIN (2) LINE will receive our first attention on the following pages, and will be divided into BRANCHES from each of Benjamin's sons, viz:—Benjamin, John, Ezekiel, Amos, Joshua, Abiel.

Each individual will be numbered for identity and easy reference. Page numbers in the index will show Known Heads of Families and the pages where they may be found.

7. BENJAMIN FULLER, (2) youngest son of ancestral Robert and Sarah, born in Salem, Mass., about 1657. His father, Robert, deeded him land in Rehoboth, at his majority in 1679, and again in 1686, at his marriage, which became his home until his death, Jan. 27, 1711. His residence was about three miles from Seekonk (then a part of Rehoboth), where ancestral Robert and sons, John, Samuel and Benjamin, were buried.

Benjamin and family, before settling in Rehoboth, lived several years in Salem, Mass., where several of his children were born.

He m. 1st, Mary, ——— 1686. She died Feb. 27, 1695.

All the above children, except JOHN removed to Lebanon, Conn., between the years 1720 and 1726. By date of deeds, JOSEPH MARTIN May 4, 1720; BENJAMIN, June 2, 1720; AMOS, Aug. 31, 1721; JOSHUA, Nov. 5, 1722; EZEKIEL and ABIEL, Sept. 1, 1726.

BENJAMIN was a large land holder; the farm he sold his brother ABIEL in 1726, is still in possession of the same family (1898).

EZEKIEL's first purchase of land in Lebanon, was from his brother-in-law JOSEPH MARTIN in 1726, upon which he lived till 1744 and then removed to Hebron, Conn., where he died about 1775.

AMOS was 21 years old when he purchased land in Lebanon, Conn., of his brother-in-law JOSEPH MARTIN, a portion of which he deeded to his brother JOSHUA in 1722 and which remained in JOSHUA's family till 1890 and upon which a house built in 1745, remains in good condition (1898). In 1748, AMOS and his family removed to western Connecticut and New York State.

JOSHUA and ABIEL lived and died in Lebanon, Conn., on the farms they purchased: JOSHUA of his brother AMOS, 1722, and ABIEL of his brother BENJAMIN, 1726.

7. BENJAMIN FULLER, (2) the youngest son of ancestral Robert and Sarah, according to traditional history, "was a man of retiring habits, whose fixed and high-toned principles, whose manly, ennobling characteristics, were best known to personal and private acquaintance, as they were by himself never paraded.

His family inherited the father's personalities." His youngest son, Abiel, lived in Lebanon, Conn., in active vigor passed his ninetyeth year. A neighboring boy (Eleazer Dewey), in intimate relations with the old man, learned from him family history, which he communicated, (in his ninetyeth year,) to the writer. His descendants having diffused themselves from the Atlantic to the Pacific, from Canada to the Gulf, we now seek to unify in the family relation of a brotherhood.

He purchased land in Lebanon, Conn., of his brother-in-law Joseph Martin, March 16, 1721, a part of which he sold to his brother Joshua, Nov. 5, 1722, which was known as the "Old Homestead," and which remained in the family five generations.

Amos disposed of his last real estate in Lebanon 1748, after which he and family are found in western Conn. and New York State. He died in Salisbury, Conn., previous to 1777, as his son Amos deeds land received by his father's will, June 19, 1777.

He m. Priscilla Woodworth, June 29, 1721.

He lived in vigor past his ninetieth year, was small in size, but very energetic and stirring, the life of society, young and old, and carried a halo of good cheer so continually in his conversation and manners, that boys hailed the little white-headed old man of four score years and more, as the jolliest companion they could find. So said one of those same boys when he himself was ninety years old.

With Abiel Fuller closes the third generation of this branch, and brings to view the fathers of the "Sons of the Revolution," through whom our country's allegiance changed from English to American supremacy.

| 84. ABIEL, b. March 6, 1739; m. Eleanor Henry, ———, 1770. |                  | (See 4th Gen.)   |

Family tradition makes the above Eleanor Henry, daughter of John, to be a great granddaughter of the Regicide Whalley, who went by the name of William Henry, to evade recognition by the officers of Charles II.

Five of the preceding families of the third generation, constitute what was published a few years ago as the original Fuller Settlers of Lebanon.

He became Chaplain of the 8th Conn. Regiment under Col. Jedediah Huntington 1776.

His obituary says "he was an excellent man, an earnest Christian laborer, a good preacher, an honored pastor, greatly lamented by his people at his death." On his gravestone they wrote—Rev. John Fuller, who sought after the souls of his people, as one who must give account.

During the great awakening of the Eighteenth Century, between 1740 and 1760, occasioned by Whitfield and other itinerant preachers passing through our country, very stirring and great effects followed their efforts, as one of the consequences, divisions occurred in the established church, which while both parties maintained the elements of evangelical truths and doctrines, still they differed on the ground of maintaining the ministry by civil laws and taxation, or on the voluntary policy.

They were also at variance on some of the practices and methods by which religious liberty and its privileges were circumscribed. They seceded from churches who stood fully on the Saybrook platform and were called Separatists. After obnoxious civil enactments and extreme points of variance had been modified in both parties, they were in most cases merged again into an improved congregationalism.

Rev. John Fuller's church in Lyme and Bean Hill were Separatists, while at Plainfield it was a union of the two.

He was a man of stern puritanic habits, very conscientious and obliging in his intercourse with others, and universally beloved by all who knew him. He was quite fond of military service and was the captain for many years of one of the finest companies in the state, viz., "The Lebanon Flanks." He infused them largely with his own spirit of manly pride, which scorns all those mean and small things which often attach to the soldier.

In the use of strong drinks, tobacco, profanity, etc., neither he or his brothers were ever addicted, which is a strong testimony of early training by a most judicious mother. ## JOSHUA JR. (4) BRANCH. (Page 16.)

225. SAMUEL FULLER, (5) son of Joshua, Jr. and Margaret Richardson, born in Lebanon, Conn., March 17, 1762. His parents removed from Lebanon to West Stafford, Ct., when he was an infant.
 In his eighteenth year, 1779, he came to Lebanon and apprenticed to his oldest brother Bezeliel, who was associated in the business of tanning and shoemaking, with their uncle Capt. Samuel (4). He continued with them till 1786, when he established himself in business in New Marlboro, Berkshire Co., Mass.

His opening prospects were favorable, when in May, 1792, he suddenly sickened and died, leaving a widow with three little children, five, three and two years old. The mother (a woman of remarkable fortitude) immediately decided to sell and invest the little property her husband left, to the benefit of the children, reserving nothing to herself, arranging for their care to their 16th year, among their friends.

Philo Case, the oldest, was taken by his uncle Joshua, of Monson, Mass.; Paulina was given a home by her great uncle Capt. Samuel, of Lebanon, Conn.; Ammi Robert was taken by Samuel and Huldah, Brewster, of Columbia, Conn., elderly people connected on the mother's side. An Infant remained with the mother.

490. PHILO CASE FULLER, (6) son of Samuel (5) and Delia Case, grand son of Joshua, Jr., born in New Marlboro, Mass., Aug. 13, 1787.

After the death of his father, 1792, he lived with his uncle Joshua in Monson, Mass., until 1803; during these ten years he was greatly favored by the motherly care of his aunt Elizabeth, seventeen years his senior, she living with her brother Joshua, a lady of marked refinement and dignity, well calculated to impress her own nobility upon the boy.

He was a student, and in the winter of 1803-4, he put himself under the instruction of a clergyman in New Marlboro, boarding with his step-father, Capt. Knapp and his mother. In his eighteenth year he became a teacher, which was his early vocation, alternated with study. He commenced the study of law in 1808, with Benj. Shelden, also with Judge Gilbert, of Hebron, Ct.; was admitted to practice at Tolland, Ct., Feb., 1813.

In 1813, he enlisted as a soldier, and thus gained an experience and knowledge of men, ever valuable. In 1815, after the war, he became clerk in the land office of James S. Wadsworth, Genesee, N. Y., boarding with the widow Nowlen, whose daughter Sophia he afterwards married. While teaching, he gained a friendly intimacy with Dr. Seward, of New York, whose son William H., afterwards Secretary of State under President Lincoln, was his pupil. These friendly relations were continuous and influential in political life.

He was member of State Legislature in 1828-9, and of the Senate in 1830, and was elected to Congress in 1832 to 1836. In 1836 he removed to Adrian, Mich., and was elected to the Legislature in 1840; was speaker of the House. In 1841, was Assistant Postmaster-General, and was Assistant Secretary of State under President Fillmore.

He was a man who for his polish, dignity and intelligence, tempered with a cordiality free from assumption, made him a genial companion to young and old, and gave him a remarkable influence in all society in which he associated. He died in Genesee, N. Y., Aug. 16, 1855.

After the death of his father 1792, he was taken by Samuel and Huldah Brewster of Columbia, Conn., who were relatives of his mother; he remained with them till he was 16 years old, and notwithstanding their great urgency for him to remain with and care for them and become heir to their property, his boyish inclinations were bent on striking out for himself.

He taught school several years on Long Island, N. Y. In his twenty-sixth year he suddenly died, leaving a widow with three children, who had depended on him. (As with his father's family, the friends came to the rescue, and the oldest son Samuel Brewster, was given a home in the family of Chester Fuller of Lebanon, Conn.; the second son Philo C., was taken by Dan Fuller of Columbia, Ct., while Susan P., the baby, was tenderly cared for by Lucina (Fuller) Dewey.
